Conference Papers for Sale; Benefits Endowment

For a number of years, PCA/ACA has facilitated the exchange of conference papers for those who wish to obtain copies of others’ papers and for the benefit of the PCA/ACA Endowment. We ask you to bring 25 copies of your paper to the Paper Table in the center of the book exhibit. Each paper will be sold for $1.00; all proceeds go to the Endowment. In past years, over $1,000 was raised per conference.

The Paper Table, as it has come to be known, is often a fascinating source of information and a good way to find others who are dealing with the same issues as you but with different approaches. Moreover, the Paper Table is also regularly visited by publishers looking for manuscripts and by editors developing collections.

The Table will be open in the Majestic Ballroom D (Level 2) whenever the book exhibit is open (hours listed below). If you would like to pick up unsold copies of your paper, please stop by before noon on Saturday to retrieve your manuscripts.

Exhibit Hours

Wednesday, March 31: 3:00 P.M. – 6:00 P.M.

Thursday, April 1: 8:30 A.M. – 5:00 P.M.

Friday, April 2: 8:30 A.M. – 5:00 P.M.

Saturday, April 3: 8:30 A.M. – 12:00 P.M.

(Please observe these hours; any changes will be posted at the registration desk and outside the exhibits hall.)

Conspiracy Theory/Claims for the Paranormal: V for Vendetta
Duration: 135 minutes
Thursday, April 1, 8:15
Landmark 4 (1st Floor)
Chair: Tamar Gablinger
Set in London in a near-future dystopian society, the film follows the mysterious V, a freedom fighter seeking to effect sociopolitical change while simultaneously pursuing his own violent personal vendetta. He rescues a young woman, Evey, from the secret police, who becomes his unlikely ally. (Will include a short introduction about the usage of the film and about the graphic novel as an anonymous' protest against the Church of Scientology.) (Synopsis source: Wikipedia).

Film and History: Patsy Mink: Ahead of the Majority
Duration: 60 minutes
Friday, April 2, 2:30 P.M.
Majestic E (2nd Floor)
Chairs: Cynthia Miller
This one-hour documentary by Kimberlee Bassford explores the remarkable political story of Patsy Mink, an Asian American woman who, battling racism and sexism, redefined American politics. Small in stature but a giant in vision, she began her life on a Maui sugar plantation and rose to become the first Asian American woman and woman of color in the United States Congress. A firecracker and a fighter, she continually pushed the limits of what was acceptable, speaking out against the Vietnam War and entering the 1972 presidential primary, making her one of the first women to seek the nation’s highest office. She transformed America’s schools as the co-author of Title IX, the landmark legislation that opened up higher education and athletics to women. The film goes beyond Mink’s accomplishments, however, to reveal a woman whose political journey was lonely and tumultuous. Dispelling stereotypes of the compliant Japanese female, she battled sexism within her own party, whose leaders disliked her independent style and openly maneuvered against her. Her liberal politics, particularly her vocal opposition to the Vietnam War, engendered intense criticism. Simultaneously a woman of the people and a pioneer, a patriot and an outcast, her story proves endlessly intriguing, and one that embodies the history, ideals and spirit of America. Film: Offside(s): Soccer in Small Town America
Duration: Film followed by comments and discussion, total about 90 minutes.
Landmark 4 (1st Floor)
Saturday, 12:30 P.M.
Chair: Don Palumbo
Appalachian State University colleagues Greg Reck, Bruce Dick, and Andres Fisher collaborated on this documentary video about the cultural landscape of youth soccer in the United States. Shot on a shoestring budget funded by a small grant from Appalachian, the story begins with three fathers (Greg, Bruce, and Andres) who volunteer to coach their daughters' local soccer team and progresses through an ever-expanding examination of the nature of organized youth soccer. Using the local community as a case study, the video is partly an historical retrospective, partly cultural analysis, and partly a human story of parents turned soccer coaches and the children they get to know. Fat Studies: Pretty Ugly People
Duration: 99 minutes
Saturday, April 3, 2:30 P.M.
Majestic E (2nd Floor)
Chair: Brenda Risch, University of Texas at El Paso
Discussant: Kathryn Schmidt, Valdosta State University

Pretty Ugly People peers into the lives of a group of friends after Lucy (Missi Pyle), who has been obese her entire life, loses a ton of weight and reveals her new self to her old friends - after luring them on an outdoor adventure. The ensemble piece features a closeted gay stock trader and a straight male flight attendant - a reversal from your “typical” gay characters.” The film is directed by Tate Taylor, and has a run time of 99 minutes.

Film & History: Who's Afraid of Kathy Acker?
Duration: 76 minutes
Friday, April 2, 8:15
Area Chair: Cynthia Miller
This film, written by Austrian artist Barbara Caspar and co-produced by Annette Pisacane (Nico Icon) and Markus Fischer, is a multi-layered work featuring animation, archival footage and interviews with the likes of William Burroughs, Carolee Schneemann and Richard Hell. It is a thoughtful and creative film biography/essay on the late outlaw writer and punk icon, whose formally inventive novels, published from the ’70s through the mid-'90s, challenged assumptions about gender roles, sexuality, and the literary canon. A beguiling and intensely contradictory figure, Acker is best known for books which creatively appropriated texts from Great White Male writers, retelling them in an emotionally raw, sexually blunt, and politically questioning female voice. With her conceptual art videos in the ’70s, her close-cropped dyed blond hair, her tattoos, and her piercings, Acker was a performance artist, proto riot grrl, and living link to the transgressive authors of the ’50s and ’60s US and French experimental fiction scenes. Caspar has made a film that captures the essence of both Acker the writer and Acker the person while celebrating the avant-garde legacy of an artist who forever expanded the limits of self-expression. Horror United presents its fourth annual “Welcome to Our Nightmare” film screening event! The Horror, Gothic, Vampire and Stephen King Areas invite all morbidly curious fans of horror, sci-fi and the like to join us for a close encounter of the absurd kind.

(Alphabetized by area sponsoring)

“In space, no one can eat ice cream!” So runs the tagline for the ludicrous horror film, Killer Klowns from Outer Space (d. Stephen Chiodo, Edward Chiodo 1988). This hilarious horror-comedy should confirm suspicions that all clowns are, indeed, evil aliens, and that ice cream trucks should always be the place to run to in an emergency. All attendees will be eligible for door prizes and a made-for-this-event raffle of horrific proportions. Come one, come all to this nightmarish event . . . if you dare!

Internet Culture: Relationship Development: Social Networking in a Digital Age

Duration: 25 minute screening, 30 minute discussion and Q&A session

Wednesday, March 31, 8:15 P.M.

Majestic B (2nd Floor)

Area Chair: Montana Miller

Presenters: Laurie Moroco and Victor Evans, Thiel College, lmoroco@thiel.edu, vevans@thiel.edu

We will screen a 25-minute documentary film we produced which focused on social networking in a digital age and how sites such as Facebook and MySpace have become significant places for individuals of varying ages to communicate with others, including everything from creating friendships, dating, and relational maintenance. As part of the film, we conducted in-depth interviews with adolescents, teens and adults about how and why they use myspace in their daily lives. We have also spoken to children as young as 9 who utilize the websites as well as to adults who maintain profiles for the sole purpose of developing and maintaining long distance relationships online. We also include opinions of media experts who discuss this current phenomenon as well as provide theories about how such websites could change the future of communication. In addition, we interviewed well known interpersonal scholars, including Dr. Ronald Arnett and Dr. Janie Harden-Fritz from Duquesne University, who have varying degrees of acceptance of such sites.

We will then open the session up for questions and further discussion.

Mystery & Detective Fiction: Lone Star

Room 240 America’s Center
Wednesday, March 31, 8:15

Area Chairs: Gianna Martella and Phyllis Betz
John Sayles' murder-mystery explores interpersonal and interracial tensions in Rio County, Texas. Sam Deeds is the local sheriff who is called to investigate a 40-year-old skeleton found in the desert....As Sam delves deeper into the town's dark secrets, he begins to learn more about his father, the legendary former sheriff Buddy Deeds, who replaced the corrupt Charlie Wade. While Sam puzzles out the long-past events surrounding the mystery corpse, he also longs to rekindle a romance with his old high-school flame. Sayles' complex characters are brought together as the tightly woven plot finally draws to its dramatic close. (source: Tad Dibbern, IMDb.com)

Science Fiction & Fantasy: Aliens
Duration: 3 hours
Saturday, April 3, 7:30 P.M.
Majestic E (2nd Floor)

Area Chair: Sherry Ginn
The events in Aliens (1986) take place approximately 50 years after the events of Alien (1979). After escaping from planet LV-426, Ellen Ripley is discovered by a salvage ship. Upon awakening from cryogenic suspension she learns that the planet where her crew first encountered the Aliens has been colonized. Although the “Company” refuses to believe Ripley’s story of an alien encounter, they send her back to the planet when communication with the colony is lost. Accompanied by a team of soldiers, Ripley’s mission is to determine if there are any survivors on the colony and if so, rescue them. Unbeknownst to her the “Company” wants to capture at least one of the Aliens.

Science Fiction & Fantasy: The Evolution of Television Drama Performance Space
Duration: 90 minutes
Thursday, April 1, 8:15
Room 101 America’s Center

Chair: Sherry Ginn
On the 23rd November 1963, the BBC launched a new science fiction television series, Doctor Who. Still very much alive and kicking 46 years on, the series has seen an evolution in television drama production techniques, from the grainy black and white “studio-bound” era in the 60s, to the “location-based”, high definition single-camera approach employed now. Andrew Ireland has produced a 1960s realisation of a contemporary episode “Tooth and Claw” as part of his practice-based Ph.D. that explores the evolution of television drama performance space. The episode was written by Russell T. Davies and originally broadcast in 2006. How did the script have to change in order to accommodate the different production processes of the 1960s? In what ways did the “studio-bound” method ‘constrain’ and ‘liberate’ production? This session will include a screening of the 1960s remake and will feature a talk and Q and A.

This roundtable session will explore the affordances and challenges associated with using commercial off the shelf games (COTS) to engage adolescent girls in technology-related learning. The panel participants are educators involved in COMPUGIRLS, an NSF-funded program that uses new digital media and a model of culturally relevant pedagogy to engage girls from under-resourced school districts in developing computational skills as well as an understanding of social inequities that affect their lives. A distinctive goal of COMPUGIRLS is to engage girls in critical reflection on the social and cultural biases in popular digital media and to use their newly developed IT skills to create media productions that inform and educate others about social justice issues in their own communities and beyond. The session will focus on how the popular game The Sims2 was used to involve the girls in critical reflection on the cultural models and beliefs reflected in the design of video games, and as a tool for the creation of digital stories that portray social issues such as alcoholism, domestic violence and eating disorders. The session organizer will provide a brief overview of the goals, rationale and activities that formed the basis for an eight week after-school course, “The Sims and Social Justice,” offered in Fall 2009, and the panelists will engage in a dialogue about key issues related to the use of games to foster critical reflection as well as fluency with digital tools.

The Vampire in Literature, Culture, & Film: Roundtable—Blood, Sex, and Love: Exploring Vampire Romance Novels and Their Impact on the Image of the Vampire
Saturday, April 3, 2:30 - 4:00 PM
America’s Center (Room 102)
Moderator: Amanda Hobson, Ohio University
Panelists:
Jessica Miller, University of Maine
Heide Crawford, Kansas State University

Bloodsucking fiends no longer. While there is not a single, monolithic vision of the vampire, the predominant pop culture image of the vampire has morphed from the unapologetic horror figure with gleaming fangs waiting to drain your blood to the sexy sympathetic and tortured soul that would rather sweep you off your feet than hurt you. Vampire myth, folklore, and fiction have integrated romance and sexuality as core elements from the beginning. The sympathetic vampire has existed within the folklore along with the more horrific, but this apologetic vampire has found a massive following in the last decade, especially as romance novelists have begun major incorporation of the vampire into their novels. Authors in other genres have also integrated this more sympathetic and charming vampire. These novels utilize a belief that vampires are neither good nor evil but can be either or both, as they inhabit the grey area. A few series stand out as indicative of this current trend, such as The Black Dagger Brotherhood series, The Anita Blake Vampire Hunter series, the Twilight Saga, and the Southern Vampire series (a.k.a. the Sookie Stackhouse series or True Blood). These series have demonstrated the evolution of the vampire’s use of sex and romance to lure prey to a desire for companionship. This roundtable will offer a venue to discuss this phenomenon of the vampire romance, including an exploration of the following questions: have these romantic vampires defanged the traditional vampire, are these vampires indicative of the larger vampire narratives particularly beginning in the nineteenth century, and why the romance genre has embraced the vampire lover?

The Vampire in Literature, Culture, & Film: Roundtable—From Vampire Killer to Succubus. The Evolution from Human to Monster in Laurell K. Hamilton’s Anita Blake Series
Saturday, April 3, 4:30 - 6:00 PM
America’s Center (Room 102)
Moderator: Linda Holland-Toll, Mt. Olive College
Panelists:
Melissa Anyiwo, Curry College
Amanda Hobson, Ohio University

In the Anita Blake series, Laurell K. Hamilton takes us on a journey through a complex alternative world in which vampires and lycanthropes exist alongside us. It begins as a vampire detective series about a woman who has a simple understanding of right and wrong – where vampires are evil and sex is something reserved for long-term relationships. Anita’s sense of right and wrong is steadily whittled away as she falls in love with the very monsters she hates and slowly becomes one of them ending as a succubus who literally feeds on sex. From the beginning of the series, Anita struggles to define herself via her clashing identities as a necromancer, executioner, and Catholic evolving throughout the series to a deeply complicated expression of her self. Her moral and metaphysical explorations cause Anita’s continual questioning of her humanity. In addition, the series shifts and bends genre moving from detective novel to erotica while hitting science fiction, horror, and fantasy along the way. This roundtable will explore some of the elements of that transformation.

Marifran Mattson is the founder and coordinator of the Motorcycle Safety at Purdue campaign. The panelists will present the results of their compilation and analysis of data they collected regarding print media coverage of Indiana motorcycle accidents. The results of this content analysis propose two arguments: First, media framing is used to decipher how news coverage of motorcycle accidents is organized to produce newspaper stories. Specific issues to be addressed include level of importance that motorcycle accidents receive, agency in the accident, identification/images used to encourage or discourage readers about motorcycling, and other relevant observations. Second, this state-wide analysis may assist safety experts, policy-makers, and newspaper editors in identifying appropriate means of intervention and communication with the public about motorcycle safety.

The Journal of American Culture Call for Papers

General Author Guidelines
The Journal of American Culture, edited at Virginia Wesleyan College, showcases articles on the Americas, especially those addressing broad and substantive cultural issues. It includes research on entertainment media and the popular arts that characterizes and illuminates life in the Americas in the twenty-first century. The journal also provides a steady and wide-ranging forum for aesthetic, historical, sociological, and ethical inquiries into the diverse cultures of the Americas, representing various times, places, and orientations, with a view toward creating a useful resource for all, with articles written in accessible language and reflecting interdisciplinary approaches and comparative analyses that will be of interest to the American Culture Association’s diverse membership.

MANUSCRIPT SUBMISSION
Authors should submit papers in current MLA style with a works cited page and a minimum of endnotes. Electronic submissions, sent in Microsoft Word via e-mail attachments to jac@vwc.edu, are preferred. However, we will also accept two copies of the paper for the peer-review process, as well as a self-addressed, stamped envelope if you want them returned. Upon acceptance of your work, you will be required to submit the material electronically via e-mail attachment or on disk in PC/IBM format. Authors of manuscripts accepted for publication must subscribe to JAC for at least one year at the time of acceptance. Subscription includes membership in the American Culture Association.

Manuscripts should be addressed to

Kathy Merlock Jackson, Editor
The Journal of American Culture
Virginia Wesleyan College
1584 Wesleyan Drive
Norfolk, VA 23502-5599

Book review inquiries should be sent to, Popular Culture Library, Bowling Green State University, Bowling Green, OH 43403.
The Journal of Popular Culture Call for Papers

General Author Guidelines
The Journal of Popular Culture is seeking high quality articles to review for publication. Topics may include any aspect of U.S. or international popular culture.

MANUSCRIPT SUBMISSION
Submitted manuscripts must be no shorter than ten pages, and no longer than twenty-five pages (typed, double-spaced, 12 pt. Times New Roman font). Research and documentation must adhere to The MLA Handbook for Writers of Research Papers and The MLA Style Manual, which require a Works Cited list, with parenthetical author/page references in the text. Punctuation, Capitalization, hyphenation, and other matters of style, must also following The MLA Handbook and The MLA Style Manual, supplemented as necessary by The Chicago Manual of Style.

Submissions should include the following—

1) Three paper copies of the article (without the author’s name appearing anywhere on the three copies).
2) A separate title page containing the author’s complete contact information.
3) A computer disk containing a file of the article in MS Word format.
4) S.A.S.E. for the possible return of submission materials.

Manuscripts should be addressed to

The Journal of Popular Culture
